Why Not Now

AGI is a full-stack Salesforce customer expanding steadily across Sales, Service, Field Service, MuleSoft, Slack, and Marketing Cloud ? but three signals put it in T3 Nurture rather than T1/T2 Pursue:

The Org62 account carries an "SDR/BDR Do Not Contact" flag. The account team has explicitly protected this relationship. Independent AFPI outreach is off-limits; the wedge has to come through Olivia Stanziale (the account owner).

Total addressable AFPI ARR is modest. With ~$126M revenue and total won ACV of only ~$440K to date, the process-mining tier that fits AGI's price point is entry-level TPL. Big-ticket AFPI investments are not realistic without a bigger operational transformation program.

The Agentforce opportunity is still at Stage 02 (Determining Problem/Impact/Ideal). AFPI's fastest wedge is "prove the Agentforce ROI before the check clears" ? but the Agentforce deal itself hasn't matured enough for that story to land yet. The right moment is when Agentforce moves to Stage 04/05.

What Would Need to Change to Move to T2

Agentforce opp advances to Stage 04 or 05. When this opp gets into "Confirming Value with Power," AFPI becomes the natural discovery layer: mine the actual case/dispatch/service event log to prove which flows Agentforce should own first. That is the moment to introduce AFPI to Olivia ? as an accelerator on the deal she is already running, not a standalone play.

Field Service swap closes ($240K opp at Stage 04). Once 150 dispatchers + 175 contractor logins are live, AGI has a rich Field Service event stream on day one ? perfect fuel for AFPI process mining on scheduling, first-time-fix, and technician utilization. The follow-on story writes itself.

Marketing Cloud + Slack + MuleSoft all closing. If the four small opps ($25K MC, $54K Slack, $70K MuleSoft, $15K renewal automation) all close in the same fiscal, AGI becomes a "full 360" reference account and the CIO conversation shifts from feature-buying to operational transformation ? which is when AFPI's cross-cloud process story starts to matter.

Signals Worth Monitoring

Agentforce opp stage advancement ? watch 006ed0000b4KPRAA2 weekly. When it hits Stage 04, engage.

Field Service go-live signal from CSG ? event-log capture starts the day the SFS Dispatcher instance goes live. AFPI needs those logs.

Job postings on agi.net for VP Operations, VP Digital Transformation, Chief Customer Officer, or "Process Excellence" titles ? those hires reset the buying committee.

Renewal negotiation temperature on the $219K SFA + Call Center + Platform renewal (close date FY28-01-31) ? if AGI is expanding at renewal, that's the moment to attach AFPI as an SES/Signature Success deliverable.

M&A signals ? the wayfinding/signage manufacturing space is consolidating; if AGI acquires or is acquired, process-integration pain becomes an immediate AFPI wedge.

Recommended Cadence & First Play

Quarterly touchpoint via Olivia Stanziale only. Do not initiate direct outreach to AGI given the DNC flag. Suggested first move: send Olivia a one-pager "AFPI on top of the AGI Agentforce deal" positioning AFPI as a two-week diagnostic that de-risks her Agentforce close. Ask for one 30-minute call with her when the Agentforce opp advances to Stage 04. Economic buyer is likely the CIO or COO; the champion play is with the Field Service program owner who is closest to the event logs.
